12 Known Dead In Oil Explosion

Six More Workmen Missing and Several Others in Critical Condition in Hospitals—Search Smoking Ruins for More Bodies.

Everett, Mass., Feb. 11 (AP).—Twelve men were known to be dead, six more were missing, and several others were in a critical condition in various hospitals in consequence of the partial destruction late yesterday of the distillation plant of the Eagle Oil Company here. All the victims were employes of the company.

Ten of the dead were identified as follows:

Jeremiah Mugford, Wakefield; Peter Davis, Somerville; Michael Burgess, Charlestown; John Collins, Cambridge; Michael Gilligan, Malden, and George Doherty, Joseph P. Landrigan, Donald Mac Intosh, Peter Russo and Charles Poitier, all of Everett.

Throughout the night firemen, policemen and other workers tirelessly searched the smoking ruins for additional bodies while sobbing groups of relatives beseiged the main gates of the big plant in quest of information or clustered about the undertaking rooms where the dead were being identified.

Mayor James A. Roche, this city's youthful executive, took personal charge of the situation and announced that he had summoned a conference for today to decide on investigatory steps. Roche was personally acquainted with several of the dead and many of the injured. As he entered the devastated area at the head of a searching party he stumbled over the body of Collins, an old friend.

Heroism found frequent expression at the hospitals to which the more seriously injured were rushed. William Flannigan, 32, a welder, was taken to a Boston hospital with three fellow workers. Although his face was burned almost beyond recognition, Flannigan gamely insisted that the other men be treated first.

Mrs. Martha Landrigan, mother of four children, who had been early cheered by mistaken information from firemen that her husband was safe, collapsed when his body was identified. Landrigan had been a deep sea diver for years and had only recently retired from his perilous profession for what his family thought would be safer work.

Gilligan left a wife and six children, the youngest of whom was born a week ago. Friends who have not yet told her of her husband's death, reported that the family had only $2 in cash.

President R. B. Kahle of the company declared that the explosion probably was caused by the failure of a low pressure still. The affected stills formed one unit in a total of 25 in the plant which covers a tract of 50 acres on the bank of the Mystic river opposite Charlestown.

The first blast came with a roar that was heard in cities for miles around and almost immediately a gigantic cloud of thick black smoke spurted upward. Within a few minutes five alarms summoning help from half a dozen nearby cities had been sounded and the entire area was shrouded in the gloom of the oil pall through which jets of flame leaped 200 feet into the air.

Fire apparatus was rushed from Malden, Medford, Chelsea and Boston to help check the spread of the flames, which for a time threatened a battery of ten storage tanks each containing 40,000 gallons of oil. A company fire brigade of 250 men joined with the regular firemen in battling the spread of the burning liquid in the direction of these tanks.

Preliminary investigation indicated that most of the dead and injured probably had been at work in the boiler and machine shops adjacent to the first still which exploded. Both of these buildings were levelled by the blast and fire.

ACCIDENT POSTPONES FLIGHT OF COLUMBIA

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., Feb. 11 (AP).—A minor accident to the monoplane Columbia as it was taking off today with Wilmer Stultz as pilot and Charles A. Levine as passenger caused a one day postponement of the latest attempt to bring the endurance flight record back to America.

As the Columbia roared down the runway for the take off, an automobilist drove directly into its path. Stultz had to veer the plane sharply to avoid a collision and as a result the tail skid was dislodged and the rudder post broken.

The plane came to halt without injury to its occupants and examination showed that the damage could be repaired during the day. Levine said the take off would be made tomorrow morning.

Hop Off For Detroit.

Hartford City, Ind., Feb. 11 (AP).—Miss Ruth Elder, Eddie Stinson and three other persons traveling in a Stinson-Detroiter airplane hopped off from here today for Detroit. The party was forced down here late yesterday after cruising for three hours in fog. The weather continued gloomy today and visibility was poor.

Louis Kaplan, president of the Kaplan Furniture Company on the Strand, has purchased one of the new eight cylinder President model Studebaker cars.

Wheeler Talks On Nicaragua

Declares American Activities Have Constituted a War Waged Privately by Calvin Coolidge in Defiance of the Constitution.

Cleveland, Feb. 11 (AP).—Training vitriolic guns upon the Nicaraguan policy of the government, Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, declared here today that recent American activities in the little republic have constituted "a war waged privately by Calvin Coolidge in defiance of the Constitution, without the consent of Congress or the approval of the American people."

Nicaragua, he asserted in an address before the City Club of Cleveland, has been reduced from "a sovereign state" to "a Wall Street protectorate".

Moreover, the Montanan charged the Coolidge administration with having "sacrificed at least 700 lives" in Nicaragua, "deviated from the policy of economy, squandered countless thousands of our public treasury, and cost our country the good will of all South and Central America and permitted certain Wall Street bankers to finally fasten their financial tenacles upon the unfortunate Nicaraguan nation and suck it dry."

"We have dealt harshly enough with Haiti, San Domingo and other Caribbean republics," he continued, but our treatment of Nicaragua is the most disgraceful chapter of our whole course of 'dollar diplomacy' and every real American who knows the whole ghastly history of this crime must hang his head in shame."

At another point, he declared that "If the American people, hopeless, apathetic, duped by the systematic propaganda of the state department, had not lost every memory of true American tradition, they would protest so loudly that this administration would stop this 'unjustifiable war' and the killing of innocent men, women and children. When the history of our times is written truthfully, this administration will be called to account for its unwarranted conduct, which has been actuated solely for the benefit of a very few Wall Street banking firms, no matter how much they may seek to hide behind a paper canal."

Using such terms as "sophomoric utterances" and "pious platitudes," Senator Wheeler at the outset of his address launched upon a criticism of President Coolidge's recent speech before the Pan-American conference at Havana. Mr. Coolidge's reference to the golden rule, in particular, aroused the Montanan's displeasure. He declared it "the golden rule of Wall Street bankers," and asserted that Mr. Coolidge "when he implied that for the past twenty years the United States in it dealings" with the Caribbean countries had followed this precept, had "revealed anew his lack of understanding of the facts surrounding our dealing with these countries."

Planthabers in Grocery Firm

George Planthaber Sells Half Interest in Long Established Grocery to His Son, George A. Planthaber—New Firm Plans Many Changes.

George Planthaber, the well known Strand grocer, has sold a half interest in the business to his son, George A. Planthaber, and commencing Monday the concern will be known as George Planthaber & Son. The present store on the Strand will be entirely renovated and made into a modern grocery store. A system of electric lights will also be installed.

George A. Planthaber several years ago established the Strand Grocery Company at the corner of Strand and Hasbrouck avenue and this business will be carried on by William Planthaber, also a son of George Planthaber.

The elder Planthaber established his grocery business on the Strand a number of years ago, and under his administration the business has gradually grown in extent until today it is one of the leading grocery houses in the city. The store is housed in a three story brick building on the Strand. The business is not only widely and favorably known in Kingston, but is patronized by many from the surrounding territory.

WHOLESALE MURDERS REPORTED IN CANTON

The Communist activities, which resulted in upheavals in Canton in December when a thousand persons were slain, are reassuming appreciable proportions. Disorders have occurred in various localities.

The coast area, one hundred miles north of Hong Kong, centering around Hiechechin and Honghai bays, is the outstanding stronghold of Communism today. There, more than a million farmers, fishermen and saltmakers have "gone red." They have established a commune, wiped out titles to land and confiscated property of the wealthy.

The movement is spreading. Wholesale murders of land owners and merchants have occurred. In many cases whole families were wiped out

Hope Fades for Trapped Miners

Return of Empty Cars Dims Hope of Wives and Children Who Keep Vigil at Minehead—Five Bodies Have Been Recovered.

Timmins, Ont., Feb. 11 (AP).—As the rage in shaft 11 of the burning Hollinger gold mine made its fruitless trips up and down the smoke-laden entryway, hope faded today for the 44 men believed trapped on lower levels.

Through the night the wives and children of the entrapped miners kept a vigil at the minehead weeping and praying, but the return of the empty car dimmed their hopes. The car was run on the chance that some of the men might win their way to the shaft and survive the trip past the burning 550 foot level.

Five bodies had been recovered. Only two were identified. Death had been caused by suffocation from smoke and carbon monoxide gas.

A possibility that some of the 44 men missing had made their way safely to the top unreported, was to be determined through check of the miners today. Between 500 and 600 men made their way safely out of the mine yesterday.

Lack of gas masks and oxygen tanks hampered the work of rescuers, early rescue attempts almost resulting fatally for C. B. Williams, general superintendent of the mine, who was overcome by smoke while attempting to reach the lower levels of the mine.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 11 (AP).—The United States bureau of mines car arrived here today on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad enroute to the burning Hollinger gold mine at Timmins, Ont., where 44 men are believed trapped in the diggings.

The car, which had been stationed at Jenner, Pa., was transfered to the Pennsylvania, which will carry it to Buffalo. Personnel and equipment will be used in rescue work at the Hollinger mine.

Insurance Men Inspect Houses

Fire Insurance Rating Association Sends Men Here to Inspect Properties for Purpose of Making New Rates.

Inspectors sent here by the New York Fire Insurance Rating Association are in Kingston inspecting properties for the purpose of making new insurance rates. This work is being done throughout the state.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy on Friday received several telephone calls asking if the fire department has any men out inspecting private residences. The fire chief stated today that the fire department has no men out and the department is not making an inspection. He said he understood that the inspectors are from the Fire Insurance Rating Organization of Syracuse, although he has no official knowledge of that fact and for that reason believed it would be wise of all householders to insist on being shown proper credentials before admitting strangers in the house.

Information regarding the identity of the inspectors was obtained by The Freeman from the office of the Underwriters' Association of the State of New York, which maintains a local office at No. 295 Wall street.

HOLY NAME SOCIETIES TO RECEIVE COMMUNION.

The Holy Name Society members of St. Mary's, St. Peter's and St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Churches will receive their regular monthly holy communion Sunday. The spiritual directors of each branch request that every member attend.

St. Mary's branch will receive communion in a body at the 8 o'clock Mass. The society members will occupy the middle aisle of the church. The regular monthly meeting will be held in the school hall Sunday evening at 7:30 at which time P. H. Dwyer of New York city will address the men.

St. Peter's Holy Name Society will receive communion Sunday at the 7 or 8 o'clock Mass, whichever is convenient for members to attend. Sunday evening at 7:30 services will be held in the church for the society and the members will be addressed by a Redemptorist priest who will have an important message.

St. Joseph's Holy Name Society will receive the monthly holy communion in a body at the 8 o'clock Mass Sunday. The regular monthly meeting will be held Monday evening.

Kent Wins Legion History Prize

American Legion History Award Given to Student of School No. 4 by Committee Which Judged Papers in Recent Regents' Examinations—Honorable Mention to No. 4 Girl Student.

Long a brilliant pupil in Public School No. 4, George C. Kent, 13, ended his grammar school career by capturing the American Legion History Award, it was announced today.

Dr. Myron J. Michael, superintendent of schools, in a letter to Commander Conrad J. Heiselman, said:

"I submit herewith the report of the committee on determining the best elementary United States history paper written by the public and parochial school children of this city at the last Regents' examination.

"The committee was composed of Clarence Dumm, S. G. Vaughn, Miss Agnes Smith and myself.

"We are of the opinion that George C. Kent, of School No. 4, has written the best paper and is therefore entitled to the American Legion prize. His age is thirteen years. We wish to make honorable mention of Ruth E. Nickerson, age twelve, of the same school. The committee has had considerable difficulty in determining which of the two papers is the better."

Chairman R. H. Woodard, of the committee on Americanism and education, sent the following letter to the winner:

"It gives me great pleasure to advise you that you have been declared the winner, by the committee of judges, of the American Legion History Award, given in memory of Louis D. B. De La Vergne.

"Please accept the congratulations of Kingston Post on the excellency of your scholarship.

"May your splendid example be an incentive to other students of American History to reach that high attainment.

"This committee has asked Prof. B. C. Van Ingen, principal of Kingston High School, for permission to present the award to you at such time and place he may select."

The award will probably be made next Wednesday, Mr. Woodard said.

ROSENDALE GRANGE HELD INTERESTING MEETING.

Members of Rosendale Grange, No. 1,501, were given the third and fourth degrees by members of the Clintondale Grange team when a meeting was recently held in All Saints' Parish House, Rosendale. The fifth degree later was given in Kingston and members received the sixth at the State Grange meeting at Poughkeepsie. A delightful social hour at which delicious refreshments were served and entertainment presented was enjoyed after the meeting.

The impressive working of the third and fourth degrees was under the Clintondale Grange team, headed by Deputy J. Wells Weaver. A playlet by George Kennedy, who took the part of the editor of the "Weekly Journal" and Mr. and Mrs. Eno Spindler as reporters, was admirably presented. It depicted the trials and tribulations of an editor in his efforts to please the public. It was a decided hit with the audience. Music and singing were also enjoyed. The economics committee served sandwiches, cake, coffee and ice cream.

The next meeting will be held on Monday evening, February 13, when new members will be initiated. All members are requested to be present.

LEGION MEMBERSHIP MEETING SUNDAY

There will be another big membership meeting at the American Legion Memorial building on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Kingston Post, American Legion, has now 534 paid-up members, and memberships which will be turned in tomorrow afternoon are expected to considerably swell this total.

The highest membership Kingston Post ever had was 526 at the end of the Legion fiscal year in 1926. This record has already been smashed by this year's membership committee, and there are many months still left in which to push the total upward. Before May 1, it is expected that Kingston Post will go over the top with 700 members, making it one of the largest and most powerful Legion posts of the 860 posts in New York state.

All Legionnaires and World War veterans who are not members of the Legion are invited to attend the meeting Sunday afternoon.

C. D. of A. Banquet.

On Monday evening, February 20, Court Santa Maria, Catholic Daughters of America, will celebrate their sixteenth birthday with a dinner at McCabe's Restaurant on Wall street. All members are invited to attend and are asked to telephone reservations to the grand regent, Miss Jane Madden, telephone 1709, or Mrs. James Connelly, telephone 563-W, not later than Thursday, February 16.

Weiner Auxiliary Card Party.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Weiner Hose Company, No. 6, will hold a card party in their rooms at the Central Fire Station on Wednesday evening, February 29, at 8 o'clock. Refreshments will be served and prizes awarded.

Dr. Hubbard at Trinity Dinner

Pastor of Newburgh Church Spoke on Lincoln at Banquet at Trinity M. E. Church Friday—Fine Program and Fine Dinner Enjoyed.

The Rev. Dr. Charles G. Ellis, pastor of Trinity M. E. Church of Newburgh, was the speaker Friday evening at the annual Lincoln Dinner men's banquet of Trinity M. E. Church on Wurts street which was attended by one hundred fifty men who enjoyed a fine turkey dinner, excellently cooked and served, and listened to an excellent address on Lincoln delivered by Dr. Hubbard.

The banquet was served in the large Sunday school room and the banqueting tables were decorated with American flags and cut flowers. At each plate was a song sheet. Before the banquet was served a young people's orchestra rendered a fine musical program and played during the serving of the dinner.

Under the leadership of Architect George E. Lowe, the diners sang fervently "There's a Long, Long Trail," and then after the invocation by the Rev. Dr. Charles G. Ellis, pastor of the Rondout Presbyterian Church, sat down to one of the finest turkey dinners ever prepared by the ladies of Trinity Church.

During the evening, Prof Stine, instructor in music in the city schools, sang two solos in a pleasing baritone voice.

At the speakers' table were seated the clergy of the various churches of Kingston together with Corporation Counsel Harry H. Flemming who presided as toastmaster. The men of the church and the guests of the evening were heartily welcomed by the Rev. George L. Withey, pastor of Trinity Church, and then Mr. Flemming introduced the speaker of the evening.

Dr Hubbard is a man of most pleasing personality and is meeting with much success in his work as pastor of the Newburgh Church. He said twenty years ago when he first entered the ministery he had made it a rule never to accept outside engagements to speak and had maintained that rule for some time until he found that he was missing much that was good in life. Then he decided to accept all invitations to speak and never declined an invitation unless prevented by a previous engagement.

Taking up the life of Lincoln as a boy, the speaker rapidly sketched his early life and environment, relating several Lincoln anecdotes, and then told of his career as president during the dark hours of the Civil War. Dr. Hubbard illustrated his remarks with a number of appropriate and humorous Lincoln stories and when he brought his address to a close his hearers had a much more vivid impression of Lincoln than they had had before. Dr. Hubbard spoke for fully three-quarters of an hour but held the close attention of his audience, and at the close of his address was given hearty applause.

DIRECTORS AND OFFICERS OF THE MASONIC CLUB.

At the annual meeting of the Masonic Club held recently directors and officers for the present year were elected. The directors now are Levi Dumond, Charles F. Lebert, M. E. Powley, Frank L. Brown, Frederick J. Fout, William Van Valkenburgh, Arthur J. Burns, Jose Suarez and Karl Schwarzwaelder.

The officers of the club are: President, Arthur J. Burns; vice president, M. E. Powley; treasurer, William A. Van Valkenburgh; and secretary, Charles F. Lebert.

A number of social events are being planned for the present season. Next Tuesday evening a Valentine's day dance will be held in the club hall, which the committee expects will be one of the best dances of the season, and many of the club members and patrons of the club dances are planning to attend.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE RECEIVES SUIT OF PAJAMAS

Chicago, Feb. 11 (AP).—President Coolidge has been sent a suit of pajamas in appreciation of his economy program.

The presidential pajamas are made of fine flour bags, and were sent by the Women's Society of the Millard Avenue Presbyterian Church. The society, expounding on thrift, sent the pajamas as an appreciation of the president's economy program.

So cleverly did the women cut the flour bags that no visible piecing was necessary. The jacket is trimmed with lavender frogs and buttons.

"It may be an unusual gift," agreed the members, "but we hope that President Coolidge will accept the gift in the spirit in which it is sent and 'choose' to wear them."

SHULTZ HAS CONTRIBUTED $100 TO FIRE PENSION FUND

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy has received a check for $100 for the firemen's pension fund from Charles S. Shultz & Son, brick manufacturers. The check was donated as a token of appreciation for the work of the firemen at the brickyard fire at East Kingston the past summer. The concern also gave each fireman at the fire a substantial sum of money.

Launch Campaign Against Unmuzzled Dogs In City

Special Policemen Charles Mayer and Frank Borho Assigned to Job—They Will Be Paid $2 a Dog—Animals to be Impounded at Forsyth Park.

The board of health today finally took active steps to enforce the order issued earlier in the week requiring that all dogs allowed on the city's streets must be muzzled, when Charles Mayer and Frank Borho were appointed special policemen and assigned to the duty of rounding up the unmuzzled dogs.

Both men called at police headquarters this morning and were sworn in as special policemen by Chief of Police J. Allan Wood, and it was expected that they would start the work of catching all unmuzzled dogs later in the day.

Will Receive $2 Per Dog.

The two men will receive $2 for each dog caught. The dogs will be placed in the pound which has been constructed at Forsyth Park, and will be kept there for a period of three days. If unclaimed by the owners by that time, the animals will be killed.

Owner Must Pay Fees.

Before the owner of the dog can receive his animal he must pay not only the $2 which the dog catchers receive but also a fee for keeping and feeding the animal. Just what the fee will be had not been fixed this morning, but will likely be $1 per day.

Use Old Patrol Wagon.

The board of public works has been cooperating with the health board and has had several men at work constructing a cage to hold the dogs. The old horse-drawn patrol wagon of the police department is to be used for the purpose of taking the dogs there as they are gathered in. A driver for the wagon will also be provided by the board of public works.

Work Under State Law.

Elsewhere will be found in The Freeman the official order of the board of health, together with the section of the state law under which the work is being carried on.

To Prevent Rabies.

The order requiring all dogs on the streets to be muzzled was promulgated by the health board to prevent the spread of the rabies in Kingston.

Some Obeying Order.

There are a large number of dog owners in Kingston who already are complying with the provisions of the order and have their dogs muzzled when they are allowed out on the street. There are also many others who have utterly disregarded the order.

HIT AND RUN DRIVER DAMAGES NEWKIRK'S CAR

Friday evening about 7 o'clock while the Oakland sedan of Garrett Newkirk of 89 Green street was parked in front of the Brass Kettle Inn on Clinton avenue, a hit and run driver of a Chevrolet car struck the Oakland, driving it over the curb and badly damaging the car. The driver of the Chevrolet car was traveling north over Clinton avenue and struck the front wheels of the Oakland and then hooked into the front, damaging the fender, front spindles, bumper and front wheels. After dragging the Oakland car along for a distance and driving it up over the curb, the Chevrolet became released and the driver proceeded on up Clinton avenue and into North Front street without stopping to see what damage had been done. The Chevrolet car was damaged considerably as pieces of the fender, top and running board were torn loose at the scene of the crash. The police were notified of the accident.

KINGSTON TRUST COMPANY IN TEMPORARY QUARTERS

On and after February 14 and until the building program is completed, the Kingston Trust Company will occupy quarters in the Cohen building at 45 Main street, a half block from the present banking house. The main banking house at Fair and Main streets will be entirely rebuilt and made into a modern bank with the Trust Company occupying the entire ground floor of the building in which the Kingston Club for a number of years occupied apartments.

Work on the erection of the new vault is being rushed to completion. As soon as this vault is completed the Trust Company will use it while the old vault is demolished and the entire interior of the bank rebuilt. The old vault will be used until the new one is completed, and until the old vault is abandoned it will be impossible to carry on remodeling operations to any extent in the bank.

Gospel Crusaders to Meet.

The regular Sunday meeting of the Gospel Crusaders will be held at the Y. M. C. A. at 3 p. m.

81st Birthday of Thomas A. Edison

Fort Myers, Fla., Feb. 11 (AP).—Thomas A. Edison's 81st birthday arrived today, bringing with it the first public function the inventor has ever attended to honor his anniversary—a testimonial fete here. In it 4,000 school children were the principal devotees.

Only one event of the day was arranged to take the wizard of Menlo Park from his winter home. That was a trip to the local telegraph office late today, to touch a key to set in motion the machine of a new electric lighting plant in Bellingham, Washington, diagonally across to the northwestern tip of the United States from this southeastern corner.

Diphtheria Clinic Monday

The regular weekly diphtheria clinic will be held Monday afternoon from 3 to 4 o'clock at the board of health office in the Central Fire Station on East O'Reilly street. These clinics are proving very popular and at each clinic many children are receiving doses of toxin antitoxin. Dr. Daniel Connelly, city health officer, has charge of these weekly clinics and is assisted by Mrs. Mary O'Neil, city health nurse.

Rockefeller Not Able to Answer

Can Throw No Light on Disposition of Liberty Bonds of Continental Trading Company of Canada—Wants Reputation of Oil Business Cleared.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 11 (AP).—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., whose family name is synonymous with the development of the oil industry, told the Senate Teapot Dome committee today that he could throw no light on the disposition of the elusive Liberty bonds of the Continental Trading Company of Canada.

Appearing in a committee room choked with spectators, the son of the famous oil magnate expressed a desire that the facts about the deal and the "national scandal" growing out of it should be brought to light so that the reputation of the oil business might be cleared, but he could not answer the vital question the committee propounded.

Rockefeller declared himself to be "bitterly disapointed" that Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, had risked a jail sentence to withhold testimony before the committee, but at the same time he expressed the utmost confidence in Stewart's integrity.

"I totally disagree with the position he has taken," Rockefeller said of Stewart, but he informed the committee that in conferences with the chairman of the Indiana board he had not discussed the matter, except to receive Mr. Stewart's assurance that neither himself nor his company had profited from the Continental deal.

Stewart was among those who guaranteed the contract of the Continental when that company bought oil for $1.50 a barrel and resold it to Stewart's and other companies for $1.75.

It is the government's contention that $223,000 of the profits of the Continental went to Albert B. Fall after the lease of Teapot Dome to Harry F. Sinclair.

"WORLD DAY OF PRAYER" TO BE OBSERVED HERE

A group of ladies representing the religious societies of the various churches throughout the city, gathered in the chapel of the First Reformed Church last Thursday to arrange a program for the "World Day of Prayer" at the suggestion of the Council of Women for Home Missions and Federation of Woman's Boards of Foreign Missions of North America.

After prayerful and earnest consideration the different parts of the program entitled "Breaking Down Barriers" were assigned to leaders from the different societies. This program will be carried out on February 24 in the Fair Street Reformed Church at three o'clock. The ladies of the city are urged to save the above date. All ladies welcome.

Judging from the attendance at a similar meeting last year, a well-filled church will be expected.

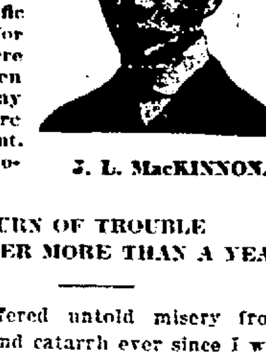
HEALTH OF NOSES, THROAT AND LUNGS

The health of the nose, the throat, and the lungs is important at this season of the year. Nasal stoppage is not only unpleasant, but dangerous. Sore throat interferes with digestion, and unless quickly mastered, infects the system. Lung ailments are responsible for more deaths than any other single group of diseases.

With this season of changeable weather, high winds, dampness, and other influencing factors, it is necessary in the battle for health to build up bodily resistance—or disease will overtake us. Lowered resistance power is most frequently evident in persons easily subject to colds, tonsilitis, asthma, and kindred ills—and in every instance there is found nerve congestion.

Because the nervous system is directly and definitely reached by the skilled Chiropractor, Chiropractic is a scientific method to be employed in your search for better resistance and better health. There are no "home runs" to health. When health is gone, you have to make your way back to normal by easy stages. Nature is not hurried beyond a certain point. Care of your health today will prevent tomorrow's regrets.



J. L. MacKINNON.

NO RETURN OF TROUBLE AFTER MORE THAN A YEAR

"I suffered untold misery from asthma and catarrh ever since I was a girl. I could not comfortably lie down at night. I tried one doctor after another, and every patent medicine I heard about. About sixteen months ago I started Chiropractic, and became well. It is now more than a year since I have had any treatments, and I have had no return of the ailments." Matilda J. Sears, Chiropractic Research Bureau Statement No. 1235-H.

Our success is due to our policy of never accepting cases that we cannot benefit.

In addition to the training received at the world's most prominent Chiropractic universities, supplemented by thirteen years' actual practice and observation, we have originated and are using our own system of painless treatment which is a distinct advance over methods commonly in use.

MARLBOROUGH

Mr. and Mrs. John Downer visited Mrs. Downer's brother, Martin Nelles of Tucker's Corners on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. S. B. Wygant and Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Wygant are expected home this week from Jacksonville, N. C. where they have been visiting.

Miss Minnie McConnell has taken a position at Schoonmaker's store in Newburgh.

W. H. Brown and Calvin Staples, Jr., returned home from a hunting trip in Virginia with forty-five ducks and one goose.

About 200 gathered in Marlborough Monday evening to see the installation of officers of Guiding Star Lodge, Knights of Pythias, and to enjoy the program that followed the ceremony. Representatives were present from lodges of Highland Falls, Cornwall, Newburgh, Highland Mills, Wallkill and Higaland. Several of these sent ten or more men. Lester Mackey of Highland, district deputy of the Pythians handled the installation assisted by J. J. Donovan of Highland. James Conn was installed as chancellor commander; Alonzo Kniffin, vice commander; Charles Warren, master of work; Harvey Denman, prelate; Thomas Greco, master of arms and outer and inner guards, George DuBois and Isaac Halewick.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Haddon and family of Newburgh spent Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Newell.

Week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Coutant were their daughter, Mrs. Clark and Mr. Clark of Brooklyn.

The executive committee of the Marlborough Athletic Association met at the home of the chairman, Dr. Leighton Williams, on Monday evening.

Miss Hildred Uhl spent the week end at West Point.

The W. C. T. U. of Marlborough is planning a clam chowder sale in the near future. The purpose is to raise money for the budget.

Marlborough people gave approximately a total of $152 to the Red Cross in gifts from local people.

Mrs. E. J. Downer is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Elmer Cruver, of Wallkill.

Mrs. Idell Brown was operated on for appendicitis in St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, Tuesday afternoon by Dr. Thompson.

Several of the local people attended the chicken supper held in St. Augustine's Hall, Highland, on Wednesday evening.

The chicken supper held last week by the vestrymen of Christ's Episcopal Church of Marlborough cleared approximately $115. All bills have been paid. The children of the church sold most of the tickets for the event and deserve especial credit for the interest displayed. The supper was held in Advance Hall. C. S. McCourt, local druggist, demonstrated a Freshman radio set and thus provided a pleasant program for all present.

J. E. McGowan spent Monday and Tuesday in New York city on a business trip.

Mrs. Sarah Coutant, who makes her home with Mr. and Mrs. William Coutant, is ill.

Miss Margaret McConnell is visiting friends in Rochester.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Marcks were shopping in Newburgh Saturday.

Mrs. Thomas Newell and daughter, Sara, visited relatives in Highland Sunday afternoon.

Edmund Carpenter and Wilbur Haviland attended the merchants' supper held at the Palatine Hotel in Newburgh on Tuesday evening.

The Marlborough Hose Company was called out on Monday morning at 9 o'clock to extinguish a fire in the Free Library building. The heater caused the blaze. The floor timbers were about burned through. The hose company soon extinguished the flames with chemicals. None of the books or papers were burned.

Several cases of scarlet fever have been reported in town.

Mrs. Mary Gardner is ill at her home.

Doctor Claims CAMPHOROLE Stops Agony of Rheumatism

How the New Discovery Brings the Marvelous Secret of a N. J. Doctor to Every Suffering Man or Woman.

Thousands are suffering from this horrible condition, which is mostly caused by deposits in the joints. The reason for these deposits is because the blood flows more slowly, and the little spaces in these joints where the arteries end, and the veins begin, are smaller than any part of the body. Therefore, the deposits in the blood are more liable to lodge in the joints of the shoulders, elbows, wrists, knees, ankles, toes, hands, etc.

CAMPHOROLE, the new powerful penetrating treatment of Dr. Brigadell's is rapidly absorbed in these areas and aids the joints in driving out these deposits that cause you trouble. From the first application of CAMPHOROLE you will feel a soothing, healing sensation as it penetrates the tissue, going deep into the joints, easing the trouble, stimulating circulation.

At All Druggists. Dr. Brigadell's Camphorole. Beware of 30 Substitutes.

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, Feb. 11.—Miss Fletcher, Dean of the Normal School, attended a meeting of the Deans of Teachers' Training Institutions of the State of New York at Syracuse University on Saturday.

A regular meeting of Huguenot Grange was held Saturday night, February 4. First and second degrees were conferred.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ashton and little son spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar DeGraff at Plutarch.

Fred DuBois has been nominated by the Senate to succeed Lewis H. Morrell of Kinderhook as a member of the agriculture council. The assembly renominated Morrell, but as it was understood that he does not desire re-election, the nomination of Mr. DuBois of New Paltz will be agreed upon by both houses.

Miss Anna Duryea has resumed her duties at Vassar Hospital in Poughkeepsie after being home for a time recovering from an operation for appendicitis.

Mrs. Simms is ill at her home. Dr. Coddington is attending her.

Mrs. Charles Young and Miss Boettiger of Ohioville were in town on Tuesday afternoon of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa Clearwater of High Falls called on Mrs. Mary Kniffen Sunday afternoon.

Admiring exclamations are heard from passers by who stop to look at the show window of the Gas and Electric Corporation on South Chestnut street. In the window is a miniature house, one of the neatest and completest little houses that ever was, all lighted, cleaned, refrigerated and what not by electricity. The house, which has been on display all over the country, was designed and constructed by the display advertising section of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation at Poughkeepsie.

On Thursday afternoon, February 9, Mary Yost celebrated her tenth birthday at her home on Wurts avenue by having a number of her friends spend the afternoon with her from three-thirty to six o'clock. Games were played and piano music was rendered by several of the girls, after which a bounteous luncheon was served, including a beautiful decorated birthday cake, the color scheme being pink and white. Those present were Doris Holt, Mildred Radley, Anna Rensen, Margaret Kevan, Violet Schmalcauche, Gertrude Keller, Elaine Kniffen, Carolyn Yeaple, Blanche Gulnac, Gertrude Simpson and Mary Yost. Little Miss Yost was the recipient of a number of pretty gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lent and family of Highland visited relatives in town on Sunday.

The Nu Kappa Sigma girls' sorority of the New Paltz Normal gave a card party Friday evening in the Knights of Columbus Hall in Kingston.

The Senior Prom was held in the Normal School gymnasium Saturday evening, Jan. 28. The Prom closed the first semester of this year's training classes. The gym was decorated to represent an ice carnival. Long white and silver icicles were suspended from the ceiling and strings of tiny papers to represent snow flakes were draped everywhere along the sides and at the windows. There were evergreens grouped along the side of the gym to give one the effect of being out of doors, and these too, were covered with ice and snow. The lighting effect harmonized with the carnival setting. During the evening there was a snow dance and the flinging of colored paper ribbons added to the carnival atmosphere, and everyone made merry. Those receiving were: Miss Florence Bennett, president of the Senior Class, and her escort, Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Van den Berg, Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Beebe, and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Bennett. The following were in charge of the various committees which made the Prom a successful affair: Miss Charlotte Smith, music; Miss Lillian Appell, refreshments; Miss Florence Ferry, bids, and Miss Jean Williams, decorations.

OLIVEREA.

Oliverea, Feb. 11.—S. Tiektinsky, who lives in Lakewood, N. J., this winter, spent a day or two at his home here recently.

Ira Kane and George Carr motored to Kingston Wednesday, taking Jack Hornbeck to a hospital for examination. He was found to be improving slowly.

Mrs. Lawrence Dutcher is expected home soon from a trip to Arizona, where a sister lives.

Only a few of the ice houses in this section have as yet been filled.

ALLIGERVILLE.

Alligerville, Feb. 11.—Much credit is due the management of the hot chicken supper and dance held in the K. of P. Hall Wednesday night. It was a success both financially and socially.

There will be church services in the Reformed Church Sunday, beginning at 2:30 instead of 3 o'clock as in the past. Sunday school at 1:30.

James H. Young has been appointed postmaster and received his commission Monday, February 6.

Colorado Cattle

Cattle did not originate in Colorado. The Spaniards brought cattle into their settlements in the Southwest and some into the southern parts of the state, but these cattle joined the buffalo and had disappeared when the settlement of Colorado began. The gold discoveries, attracting many thousands, and the establishment of Denver and other towns called for meat which resulted in the driving in of the Texas cattle or "long horns." That was the beginning of the industry.

DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Sunday, February 12.

Abraham Lincoln's birthday will be fittingly celebrated by broadcasters on Sunday night. One of the most interesting programs to go on the air will be presented by the American singers through WOR and the Purple network at 9:30. All of the compositions to be rendered by this group were either favorites of the great Emancipator or are typical of the period in which he lived. Many of the Civil War songs will be revived for this broadcast. An address "Lincoln, The Man," by Raymond P. Read will go on the air at 10 o'clock for listeners of WPG. Charles Hackett, leading tenor of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, will present the concert in the Atwater Kent hour at 9:15, assisted by Nanette Guilford, Metropolitan Opera soprano, and Robert Hood Bower's orchestra. Miss Guilford, who made her debut on February 22, 1923, is the baby of the company. Mr. Hackett gave his first concert in Italy. The program will be put on the air by WEAF and 23 stations of the Red network. "The Life Everlasting," a cantata, sung by the choir of Mt. Vernon Place Methodist Church will be WBAL's highlight at 8 o'clock. At 9:45 Negro spirituals by the Utica Jubilee singers may be enjoyed by the audiences of WJZ, KDKA and WHAM. James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, will give a short talk through WJZ, WHAM, KDKA and WJR beginning at 9:15.

DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Monday, February 13.

Rosa Raisa, prima donna of the Chicago Opera Company, will be the guest artist in the General Motors' family party to be broadcast through WEAF and the Red network at 9:30 Monday night. The first part of the party will include a symphony orchestra with Roderic Graham as conductor and the second part will feature Patrick Conway's concert band. Madame Raisa will be heard in both groups of the entertainment. WEEI will open the list of highlights at 7:30 by broadcasting the Chelmsford Old Time Minstrels under the direction of Joe O'Leary. Spiritual singers and banjo pickers will be heard in an "Away Down South in Old Virginia" through WRVA at 8:15, and fifteen minutes later the Grand Army of the Republic will take over the microphone of WNYC. This will include an address by Lewis S. Pilcher, past commander in chief, and music by United States Navy Yard band. Highlights have also been arranged by WJZ, WBZ, WPG, KOA, WOO, WCCO, CNRO and KYW.

In Conference

There was a tired business man, a member of that busy clan, that shields itself from prying eyes behind that old old alibi—"In conference."

He rested in his office chair and ducked a lot of toil and care and smoked cigars in sweet content, and thus his busy hours were spent—"In conference."

Came anxious strangers by the score to camp outside his office door, and angrily they went their way, for he was busy all the day—"In conference."

And so he died and at the gate an angel bade him stand and wait and said to him with frowning brow, "St. Peter's mighty busy now—'In conference.'"—Vancouver Province.

Rocky Mountain Flowers

One of the great charms in the national parks in the Canadian Rockies is the variety and beauty of the wild flowers. At first thought one would perhaps not expect to find an abundant and interesting flora amid the higher altitudes, but, strange as it may seem, the wild-flower gardens which bloom above the clouds in the upper regions are among the most beautiful in the world. Over 500 varieties have been identified by botanists, and their exquisite color, fragrance, and delicate loveliness add the last touch to the charm of that wonderful region.

Peking Child Beggars
Bane of Foreigners

Even Cairo and Naples cannot compare with Peking in the number and persistence of the professional beggars who swarm upon the streets and annoy strangers with their supplications. In Peking the casual tourist will do well to buy a "small dime" coppers before he goes out—that means twenty-eight coppers—and to distribute a copper here and a copper there. It purchases immunity from annoyance.

The permanent resident obtains immunity only by being as "hard-hearted" as the Chinese themselves—and never giving. If one lives in Peking for a time and maintains a 'rickeha boy and several servants, one's doorway will not be bothered, for the magical words "la boo gay"—"He nothing gives"—spread rapidly. Recently the doorways of the foreign hotels were beseiged by swarms of ragged little girls of eight or ten years, each carrying a tiny wailing naked infant, supposedly their starving little sisters. As a matter of fact, these little begging girls are all hired, as are also the infants, by fat, sleek men who control this beggar ring and prey upon ignorant foreigners.

Speaking of Kings

The class had been asked to write an essay on kings, and this is what one sent in:, "The most powerful king on earth is Wor-king; the laziest, Shir-king; the wittiest, Jo-king; the quietest, Thin-king; the thirstiest, Drin-king; the slyest, Win-king, and the noisiest, Tal-king."—Pittsburgh Sunday Telegraph.

Vanity of Pakenham
Brought His Defeat

The American forces under Andrew Jackson at New Orleans in January, 1815, inflicted severe losses on the British troops because General Pakenham, the British commander, insisted upon carrying out a set method of attack which did not prove successful against the Americans, points out Clifford Raymond in an article in Liberty.

"It was British tradition," continues the author, "that troops could take a position in frontal attack, carrying material for filling ditches and ladders for scaling walls. It was also in the history of British regiments in America that they had not done it on many occasions; but Pakenham, with his reputation to maintain, was convinced that he had do it, even with Andrew Jackson animating the troops behind the breastworks.

"Pakenham died rallying the men," explains Raymond, "when they withered under the rifle and artillery fire. Before that fire, in 25 minutes the storm troops of Great Britain disappeared. There were 700 killed, 1,400 wounded, and 500 taken prisoners. The American loss was 8 killed and 13 wounded."

THE "SANDINO STAMP."

Postmaster-General New's announcement that "the use of the Sandino stamp on United States mail will not be permitted" has caused the uninformed to make inquiry as to what the forbidden "Sandino stamp" is. It appears that it is a sticker of "protest against United States Marine rule in Nicaragua" which the All-America Anti-Imperialist League has on sale and wants to have attached to mail matter in the manner of the recent tuberculosis-fighting Christmas seals. Presumably it is called the Sandino stamp because Sandino is the name of the insurgent, rebel or bandit—as you please—who still resists American marine authority in Nicaragua. It is stated that the Sandino stamp violates section 212 of the United States penal code which forbids the mailing of matter "of an indecent, lewd, lascivious, obscene, libelous, scurrilous, defamatory or threatening character."

Obviously the Sandino stamp is not indecent, lewd, lascivious, obscene, scurrilous or defamatory, but Postmaster-General New may regard it as libelous because it implies that our government's policy in Nicaragua is unjust, and as threatening because it may cause more people to question that policy. But the same objection could be brought against the mailing of every newspaper or magazine containing articles (of which there are many) criticizing the said policy.

DAD AT THE FRONT.

From Princeton comes the announcement of the most unusual, not to say revolutionary, spectacle ever witnessed in these United States. On Washington's birthday, February 22, the classic shades of beautiful Princeton are to be the scene of nothing less than what essentially will be a Fathers' Day. To be sure it is entitled Alumni Day, but the undergraduate body has been authorized to invite every father who would like to attend, whether or not he be a Princeton man himself, and more than 2,200 invitations have been sent to as many fathers who no doubt rubbed their eyes to read again to make sure. For has it not ever been father's recognized business to stay at home to "get the money" to send the boys to college and mother and the girls to Europe? What else was he made for, and who has ever expected him to find time for more?

Such a thing as an actual "party for Dad," and in such an aristocratic place as Princeton, too, with the boys paying tribute and mother and the girls in the background for once, is more than unprecedented—it has been undreamed of heretofore. Probably this country has never before witnessed such an astonished group of middle-aged and elderly expense-meters in all its history.

MALE SUPREMACY.

It is with very mixed emotions that men learn of the formation of a club at Cambridge University, England, to "reassert the supremacy of the male." It hasn't occurred to Americans that English males have ever lost that supremacy. England is supposed to be still "a man's country," in spite of woman suffrage, where if a woman dares to bawl a man out, he is at least upheld by public sentiment in bawling her out in turn, if he courteously refrains from dragging her around by her bobbed hair. "Treat 'em rough" has always been the masculine motto of Merrie England, if we get that virile country right.

But apparently the men have been slipping there as elsewhere. Things have surely come to a sad pass when lordly Britons are driven to organizing clubs in universities, where they may talk bravely to each other about putting woman in her place. Here in America men don't even do that. They know how futile it would be.

Some time ago a student at one of our leading universities explained that "the mark of Cain" meant that Cain, being "a farmer," had "horny hands." This is recalled by the equally entertaining comment on our "Lindy" by four students at the University of Arkansas. According to the report: "One described him as a fifteenth century Prime Minister of [illegible]. Another said he was a Cleveland Colonel in the World War. [illegible] Russia and another compared him with the famous Hindenburg. [illegible] is there a famous Hindenburg in evidence? [illegible] Hohenzollern [illegible] rejected the Arkansan [illegible] enthusiasm with a hint that the [illegible] Dole to Peace in the East [illegible] and not send the ex-navigator [illegible] days.

The New John Haynes Holmes list of the ten greatest Americans, not including persons born [illegible] 1776 or those now living and [illegible] to those "most distinctively and uniquely Americans," reads as follows: Abraham Lincoln, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Henry David Thoreau, William Lloyd Garrison, Theodore Parker, Robert E. Lee, Walt Whitman, Mark Twain, Charles William Eliot and Eugene V. Debs. A truly remarkable list, mainly interesting because of the surprising [illegible] those in it little dreamed that they would ever be grouped with some of the others.

DEVELOPMENT FROM PLAY.

As it has been discovered that a great many of our heart cases of middle age can be traced to childhood illnesses, I speak often about the necessity of keeping youngsters in bed for a few days after the temperature and pulse are normal.

Unfortunately some damage sometimes is done to the heart, and the parents are naturally so careful that the youngster is not allowed to do anything for himself, even go messages, and play is absolutely forbidden.

Now I have pointed out before that not allowing the child to play is a big mistake, because the only way the heart muscle can get strong is by exercise, by play.

However, there is another point that is overlooked, and that is the mental, and I might say also the moral, effect upon a youngster who is not allowed to play.

You can readily see that if he is not made to go messages, to do some of the chores about the home, he is going to lean upon the other members of the family, and thus it will be hard to prevent him from becoming selfish.

This is why play is so beneficial. Each youngster has to go "it", has to be "in the field", in baseball, and do other things in these games that make him sink his own interest or desires for the benefit of the team.

If a youngster in the excitement of a game, when he is worked up to the highest pitch, and anxious for his own satisfaction to play the ball or puck, yet unselfishly passes it to a team mate, real progress has been made toward the development of unselfishness of character. Also when a youngster is kept out of a game, is not allowed to play, you can readily see how other youngsters will size him up, and also how he will size himself up.

He will begin to feel that the other youngsters are stronger physically, are more self reliant, and a feeling of "inferiority" is bound to creep into his mental and moral makeup.

He is thus not only handicapped as a boy, but this dependence on others, this "inferiority complex", may become permanent, unless the parents wake up in time to see the result of their extreme "carefulness", and send the youngster out to play games with others. So it isn't for physical reasons alone that supervised play is doing such a real work in the community.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

The Diamond Brooch Becomes an Effective Hat Ornament—It Is No Longer Essential to a Dress Already Ornamented by Brilliants.

It seems a rather extravagant fashion to wear diamond hat ornaments. Yet after all, a woman [illegible] handsome diamond [illegible] takes little chance in losing it when it is securely pinned to her felt hat. Certainly it displays the ornament to tremendous advantage, and many women, especially when wearing fur coats, feel that it is a better use for their pins than when worn on the shoulder or at the neck. The growing use of handsome and often spectacular buckles and ornaments is another reason for finding a new way to wear the brooch.

Among the newer designs in rhinestone and crystal pins, intended to be worn at the hip or wherever it seems most effective, may be cited a narrow bar holding three stones of graduating size. While at one time a really smart woman would have scorned to wear a rhinestone or crystal necklace, now they are generally in favor; so much so, in fact, that one feels incompletely dressed when in decollete unless resplendent with brilliant trappings.

While crystals and diamonds, or what passes for them, head the list of fashionable gems, there are many colored ones being worn, and for the moment pearls are relatively unimportant. Rather heavy-looking gold jewelry is still liked, Premet and Lelong especially being successful with these types.

900 ATHLETES AT ST. MORITZ OLYMPIC GAMES

St. Moritz, Switzerland, Feb. 11 (AP).—To the roaring salute of 21 guns while a blinding snowstorm swept St. Moritz, 900 athletes representing 25 nations filed past the presidential stand of the Olympic Stadium today.

President Schultess, president of the Swiss confederation, after administering the amateur Olympic oath announced the winter Olympic games were officially opened.

The weather which had been clear and sunny for the past week, changed at the last moment. It was cloudy and overcast earlier this morning and the snowstorm broke just as the last nation in the parade, Switzerland, reached the stadium.

St. Mark's A. M. E. Church, Foxhall avenue, the Rev. J. M. Proctor, pastor. There will be special exercises held at both morning and evening services at St. Mark's on Sunday, the special feature being the anniversary celebration of the birth of Richard Allen, the founder of the A. M. E. Church. The pastor will preach at 11 a. m., upon Allen's life and character. The class meeting will be one of interest and the leaders expect all members to answer to their names at roll call. The Sunday school hour will be occupied chiefly in rehearsing the program for the evening's exercises. The 8 p. m. service will be one of interest, as the history of Allen and the church he founded will be rehearsed to the satisfaction of the most curious. On Wednesday and Thursday night the "Winter Picnic" will take place. An excellent program will be rendered. The decorations will be in keeping with the season. Good music. Supper served, refreshments for sale. A special call is made for all the members of Community Band to meet Friday night, the 17th.

People Never Partial to Perforated Coins

Perforated coins were never in favor in the United States, though various efforts were made to popularize them. The first United States coin with a perforated center was a gold dollar issued in 1849, which had a square hole in the middle of the planchet. It was the forerunner of the gold dollar issued by the United States mint in 1849. The coin was engraved, not struck from dies. The next United States coin with a perforated center was issued from the Philadelphia mint in 1850 and was of the denomination of 1 cent. It was about the size of the bronze cent now in use.

At that time the large, old-fashioned copper cent was in general circulation and the perforated coin received the name of "ring cent." The designer reasoned that by means of the perforation the cent could be distinguished by touch from the dime. Another perforated cent issued the same year showed two rings in the field, with the words "Cent, one-tenth silver." The reverse showed an olive wreath around the perforation and the words "United States of America." The mint authorities undertook to design a coin that would answer all requirements, and the pieces were struck with both pierced and perfect centers in silver, copper, nickel and composition metal, six varieties in all, without counting the various metals, but none of the designs was favored by the government authorities, and consequently they were never put in general circulation.

Marriage No Light Ceremony in China

Getting married is complicated business in China. Anna Louise Strong, writing in Harper's Magazine, gives the following description of Chinese wedding customs as related to her by a Chinese student:

"If a marriage is honorable in China, the parents of the groom will pay the money needed. They will send notes from the groom's father: 'On such a date my son will marry the daughter of Mr. So-and-So. Your presence is requested at the feast.' But it is worth much to him, for at the wedding, all honor is shown to this old man, who will now be a grandfather, since his son has taken a wife.

"But if the marriage be without parents' consent, then the young folks cannot be at home on their wedding day. A proper, honorable marriage—it really cannot be done without the parents; otherwise, all is disorder. There are only two other ways for young folks. One is to wait and beseech the parents. Even if they do not like the girl, still they love their son, and if they see him always unhappy, refusing to take any other woman or to give them grandsons, in the end they will often give way."

To Clinch the Bargain

A Kansas City man employed in an expert capacity received an offer from a rival firm recently, and went to talk the matter over. The prospective employer named a certain sum to start the salary discussion, but the expert did not like the looks of the new job, and so he said, "I'm sorry, but I have a contract with my company which has two years to run."

"Contract be blowed!" said the rival boss, who is also a lawyer. "I can break any contract ever written. Now, you come with us, and I'll give you $100 a month more than you're getting now."

"Well, I guess I'd better not."

"Listen. I'll give you $150 more."

"No, I—"

"And a contract!"—Kansas City Star.

Jewels in Legend

The fact that the misfortunes that have so often attended the careers of famous jewels may be explained away as coincidences, just as the mystical qualities ascribed to gems may be dispelled on scientific grounds, will probably not lessen the appeal of the stories and legends about them. On the other hand, optimists may point with some pleasure to a contrary example, in which the pawning of some more or less valuable jewelry financed Columbus' discovery of a new world.

Marie Alphonsine Manipulates Fine Straw in the Same Way as She Does the Felt Hat

The Last Hat is a Light Navy Blue and Gray Exotic Straw, Which Has the Edges Bound in Georgette, and for Trimming a Continuation of the Brim Ties in a Bow at One Side.

Novelty Straws, Termed Exotics in Paris, Are Backed to Enter the Spring Fashion Race Against Felts.

Paris.—Since we are living in an age of speed, and have therefore acquired the habit of rushing the seasons, it may not seem an untimely subject to write a little about spring, and the hats we are expected to wear, to pay homage to that season, when above all seasons, new clothes have a fascination difficult to resist.

What a woman will do is usually difficult to predict. What she is supposed to do, in the matter of ordering a new hat, is to pass judgment on the new straws that have been assembled in the hope of weaning her away from the inevitable felt. These straws are blanketed by the term exotics. The French modistes who have displayed their creations classify all novelty straws as such.

To be more explicit, there are ballibuntls, with which we are familiar, and Bakou and Sizol to add to a list that it seems only right should be headed by Milan, and a list that includes Leghorn, although not near the top. There are also two-tone straws—white with beige, navy or black—and there is an attempt to revive cellophane.

All this is well worth weighing in one's mind, yet the thought persists among those who have the Parisian angle on millinery that it is going to be difficult to oust felt, even with such a list of desirable straws. Paris continues to show and approve only small shapes—occasionally medium sizes.

America remains loyal to the wide-brimmed hat, which is sure to be a success during, if not before, summer. A small hat, however, gives a better silhouette when a coat collar or fur must be considered.

Industrial Games At "Y" Tonight

The Shillings will oppose the Central Hudson A team and the Hercules will do battle with the Silk Mill quintet in Industrial League basketball games at the Y. M. C. A. tonight. The first tilt will get under way at 8:30 o'clock. The games are becoming more interesting every week as the players have had plenty of time to study the game since the opening of the league on December 1. Many a hot contest is played in the league and although some of the men played but little basketball previous to this season, all have made much progress in learning the game. There are others on the teams who have made names for themselves as good basketball players in this vicinity. Many fans are expected to witness the games tonight.

Previous to the brace of Industrial games the Chandler five of this city will meet the Hupmobile quintet of Kingston in the second of a series of games. The Chandlers took the first contest. The game is scheduled for 7 o'clock.

ASKS FAIR CHANCE FOR YOUNG TENNIS STARS.

Chicago, Feb. 11 (AP).—The plea of William T. Tilden to give America's young tennis stars a fair chance in the coming campaign to bring the Davis Cup back to this country was before the annual convention of the United States Lawn Tennis Association today.

Two sets of Davis Cup players are suggested in Tilden's plan, one to compete in the American zone play, under the recent decision of the U. S. L. T. A. and the other to sail for Europe early in the summer in order to get accustomed to foreign conditions for the finals in France.

"To send the United States team over in June for the cup matches in July," Tilden said, "only would court certain defeat. Above all, develop the younger stars by sending over at least two juniors to gain experience in international play, whether or not they compete for the Davis Cup.

"Francis Hunter and I found last year that training conditions in Europe are entirely different than in America and we had been competing for at least six weeks before we reached top form."

Tilden's plan is to have George Lott, John Hennessey and other young stars carry the burden of the American competition, while he and Hunter are getting acclimated in France. In that way he and Hunter, with the assistance of some of the younger players, may be able to lift the cup from France. He and Hunter also are willing to compete in the American zone while Lott, Hennessey and others are sent aboard to get in condition.

Tilden opened his 1928 campaign last night with a victory over Lott which showed the brilliant service of the Tilden of old. Lott could do virtually nothing with Tilden's cannonball service, losing 6-3, 6-1. Hunter showed the same superiority over Hennessey, winning 6-3, 6-2. Tilden and Hunter, the national doubles titleholder gave the western youngsters, Lott and Hennessey, a lesson in doubles, 6-2, 6-2 before a packed throng at the Jal-Alai court.

Canzoneri New FeatherChampion

Before a crowd of about 14,000 in Madison Square Garden last night, Canzoneri opened up with a rapid fire fusillade of rights and lefts to the head and nearly knocked out Bass in the third round. The Philadelphian went down for a count of eight and was on his knee when the bell ended the round.

The injury to Bass was not disclosed until after the bout when a large swelling appeared about the shoulders. Dr. W. G. Fralick said the shoulder was dislocated and the right collar bone possibly fractured. Bass was taken to a hospital.

The Philadelphian said he sustained the injury in the third round when he missed Canzoneri with a hard right and that thereafter was compelled to rely on his left hand for his attack.

K. H. S. SECONDS NOSED OUT PORT EWEN FIVE.

At the Kingston High School Gym Friday night the K. H. S. Seconds defeated the Port Ewen team 15-13 in the last minute to play.

The Port Ewen boys broke into the scoring column early in the game through two fields made by Van Etten. The school boys were playing off form but after calling time out seemed to hit their stride. Brennan broke the jinks by sinking a foul. Following this he collected two more points by caging one from scrimmage. At the half the score was held by a safe margin by Port Ewen, 16-8.

In the second half the school quintet broke loose. Clarke who had been held scoreless throughout the first period sunk three fouls in succession and then found the hoop once from scrimmage. Halloran also made a deuce and Clarke then made a foul shot good tieing the score 18-18. A. Short of Port Ewen had a chance to break the tie by having two free chances from the fifteen foot chalk line but failed to make them good. Halloran was successful in caging his foul which won the game for the school five, 19-18.

K. H. S. Varsity Beat Newburgh

Kingston High School varsity basketball team bolstered its chances for the DUSO League honors by defeating Newburgh 28-25 on the local court Friday night. Maroon, who starred for Kingston in the point collecting with 15 to his credit, also played a big hand in stemming a rally staged by Newburgh in the final quarter. After Wonderly caged a foul out of two free throws, which put Kingston in the lead 26-25, Maroon caged a field in about the last two minutes to play.

Kemper, of the Newburgh team, did the best scoring for his aggregation. He collected 14 points. The Newburghers had to play hard in order to keep up with Kingston, who passed the sphere in fine form.

LLOYD HAHN AND DR. PELTZER WILL RACE.

Chicago, Feb. 11 (AP).—The hope of track enthusiasts for a mile race between Lloyd Hahn of the Boston Athletic Club and Dr. Otto Peltzer of Germany will be realized on February 29. After his defeat by Ray Conger of the Illinois Athletic Club in the 1,000 metre race last night, Dr. Peltzer announced he had received permission and had accepted an invitation to compete against Hahn in the mile run at the Knights of Columbus games at New York on that date.

It will be his third and probably his final race during his present American invasion. And it will give him an opportunity of erasing the pain of his defeat by Conger.

Dr. Peltzer plans to remain in Chicago until next week, training intensively for the race with the speedy Nebraskan.

ILLINOIS INDOOR RELAY CARNIVAL

Meet Will Be Run Off on March 17 in Armory.

Traditions of high-class performances established in the ten years of its history will be maintained, it is predicted, when the University of Illinois indoor relay carnival is run off March 17.

This date is three weeks later than usual, but the change, it is believed, will add to the interest in the carnival, which already is the largest indoor relay meet in the country. The new date gives the universities an opportunity to complete their indoor seasons before they turn their attention to relay teams. For the first time the meet will follow the Big Ten indoor championships, which will be held at Iowa City March 9 and 10.

Preliminary arrangements are being made by Chick Werner, former Illinois track captain, manager, and Ralph C. Murphy, student manager. As usual, the meet will be run off in the big Illinois armory, a building 400 by 200 feet, free of any supporting columns. The 75-yard clay straight-away and six and three-quarters laps to the mile cinder track are fast, as evidenced by the four national track records which have been established or equaled.

Four university races top the program, one-mile, two-mile, four-mile and medley relays. There will be three college relays, one and two miles and medley, and a mile high school relay. Ten special events will be run off: 75-yard dash and low and high hurdles; 300-yard, 1,000-yard and 1,500-meter runs; high and broad jumps; shot put and pole vault.

The all-around championship in which versatile athletes compete in the 75-yard dash and high hurdles, the high and broad jumps, the 880-yard run, shot put and pole vault completes the program.

Giants Champions of 1927 Professional Football

The 1927 professional football season produced a champion for New York, as the Giants finished in front in the National Professional Football league with a record of ten victories and only one defeat. Two of the victories were over Red Grange and his Yankees. The only eleven to defeat the Giants was Benny Friedman's Cleveland Bulldogs. In Cleveland the Giants and the Bulldogs played a tie.

The 1927 season was one of harmony, and only one league operated instead of two, as in 1926. During the winter C. C. Pyle and the officials of the National Professional Football league settled their differences and Pyle and Grange became members of the National league.

Grange himself did not have a successful year. His knee was injured in one of the early games and this hampered his playing and prevented him from showing at his best. He was not conspicuous in either of the two games against the Giants.

Real Champion Always Makes Weather Help Him

The weather plays an important role in all sporting events, but usually a champion is able to make the weather assit him to victory, points out John R. Tunis in an article in Liberty.

Some years ago the writer and Norman Brookes, the great Australian tennis player, watched Rene Lacoste, present holder of the world's singles championship, go down to defeat at the hands of an unknown player because Lacoste could not play to advantage on the rain-soaked court. Brookes, who was disappointed by the showing made by Lacoste, remarked: "Your real champion always makes the weather help him to victory."

"Observe how true this is," continues Mr. Tunis. "The next time you see a champion in action, observe him closely. Wind or rain, heat or cold, dry surface or wet surface—watch him make the weather do its share in giving him the prize."

Fast Bouts on Armory Card

Negotiations for the Estridge vs. Konchina and the "Red" Edgerton vs. Kid Rash matches to be staged in the local armory on Friday night, February 24, have been completed. In another bout on the card, which promises to be one of the best ever staged here, Dick Bishop of the 104th Engineers of New Jersey will meet Stanley Stevens of Newburgh.

Estridge and Konchina are eager for the championship of the National Guard in the middleweight division. Rash is the featherweight champ of the 369th Infantry and Edgerton is anxious to score a win over this clever scrapper.

It took Dick Bishop 54 seconds in the first round to put away Tommy Cans, victor over Joe Myers, local scrapper, in the last set of bouts at the armory. Stevens got the decision over Mike Spergel after six rounds, of hard battling on the last card.

JOE COLLETTI HAS TAKEN TO RING WORK AGAIN

Joe Colletti, flyweight boxer of Poughkeepsie, who once was a leading contender for the championship of his class is endeavoring to stage a comeback after a considerable absence from the ring. He will fight at Brunswick, N. J., on February 17. His opponent has not been announced. Colletti recently fought at Plainfield, N. J., and defeated Walter Burns, considered a strong battler of the "Skeeter" state. It was Burns's first defeat after a consecutive string of wins.

Lake Katrine Lost.

The Vikings beat the Lake Katrine five at the Grange Hall in that place Friday night, 57-19. Boyce of the Vikings did the best scoring of the evening by collecting 21 markers. Van Gensen did the best point collecting for the Katrine team. He corralled 11.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

No static, no howls and a perfect chart interfered with reception Friday evening. Volume was strong and with the exception of KDKA selectivity was good. As a result such unusual stations as WFIW, WSMK, KMOX, WCAE and WLOE were heard.

The soap program was best from WSAI and the Talkative Lady was at her best from KDKA. Time signals from NAA were perfectly clear and WPG did not spread.

Three of the great voices of the world will be heard on the air on Friday evening, February 24, at ten o'clock, Eastern standard time, when the Victor Talking Machine Company broadcasts the fourth concert of its 1928 series from radio station WJZ, New York, and associated stations of the National Broadcasting Company. Lucrezia Bori, soprano; Beniamino Gigli, tenor, and Giuseppe De Luca, baritone, all of them members of the Metropolitan Opera Company, will present a version of Verdi's famous opera, "Traviata", necessarily somewhat abridged, but including all the great arias, duets and trios of the colorful score.

Youth Laughs Last

A professor at George Washington university failed to show up on time for class. The young men waited 15 minutes. No professor! The class evaporated. Next day the teacher avowed he had been "constructively present" because his hat had been on his desk. On the third day the instructor entered the classroom to find the usual chairs, each with a hat upon it. American humor is still "constructively present."—Lafayette Journal and Courier.

Weekly Market Letter On Request

WELLS HELD TO AWAIT GRAND JURY ACTION

Judge Oscar Church of High Falls Friday afternoon held Otis Wells of Atwood to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree. In August last year, it is charged, Wells stole a valuable Holstein cow in the town of Marbletown, which he sold for $50 to a man named Stewart, living on the Hurley mountain road. Later the cow was recovered and Stewart was out $50. Wells disappeared. On Friday it was learned he was on his way to Kingston and he was arrested by officers from the Sheriff's office at Hurley and locked up. Later he was taken to High Falls for arraignment.

He said he stole the cow to avenge his ejectment from the house of Morris Sitzler, owner of the cow, with whose daughter he had been keeping company. Since going away he stated he went to Paterson, N. J., and later to Syracuse where he was married. Whom he married he so far has refused to state, giving the reason that he does not wish to disgrace the family of his wife.

National Legislators

Members of the house of representatives representing the southern states are usually natives or at least born south of the Mason and Dixon line. Western members very frequently are those who have come from other parts of the country and aided in upbuilding the younger states.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 11 (AP).—Further irregularity developed in today's stock market but the main price tendency appeared to be upward. Strength of the packing issues, nearly all of which attained new high levels for the year, contrasted with the weakness of the oils, five of which sank to the lowest prices in a year or more. Consistent strength of the rail shares, more than a dozen of which advanced 1 to 3 points, was one of the day's features.

There was little in the overnight news to influence the price movement. Yellow Truck common turned weak in reflection of the passing of the preferred dividend and some selling also came into the other motor shares. Selling pressure also was apparent against Brooklyn Manhattan Transit, Consolidated Gas, Detroit Edison and Vanadium Steel.

Pathe A, which sold down to 8⅛ on Thursday, rallied 4½ points overnight to 11¾. Gold Dust ran up close to par to a new higher record and American Snuff, American Zinc common and preferred, Bon Ami, Brooklyn Edison, General Railway Signal and American Smelting sold to nearly 4 points higher. The closing was firm. Total sales approximated 1,300,000 shares.

Marriage Dissolved.

Supreme Court Justice George H. Smith has issued an order dissolving the marriage of Paul Hinkley of 24 Furnace street, Kingston, from Ruth Julia Hinkley, this being an Enoch Arden proceeding as the defendant was given notice by publication. They were married at Ellenville December 10, 1919, and she disappeared about May 5, 1923, and since then no tidings could be had as to her whereabouts for five years. There is one child, a son. Arthur B. Ewing is attorney for the plaintiff.

Auxiliary Hears Interesting Talk

Mrs. H. P. Van Wagenen Entertainingly Describes Recent European Trip to Ladies' Auxiliary of Y. M. C. A.—Drive Starts Monday to Help Y's Men's Camp.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. held its February meeting on Friday afternoon with a very large attendance. The devotions were in charge of Mrs. Justin Field.

Mrs. George DuBois reported four Hi-Y suppers with an average attendance of thirty, and Mrs. Longyear reported for Mrs. I. W. Saterlee that bean suppers were being served each week to from fifty to sixty boys at fifteen cents apiece.

Mrs. William Campbell reported that she had mended five sheets and three pillow slips belonging in the dormitories and made several dish towels for the kitchen.

Mrs. F. N. Hinds reported the community camp supper held at which people owning camps near the Y's Men's camp at Glenerie Lake assembled for a social evening.

Three new members were received: Miss Helen S. Crane of 51 Wall street from the First Reformed Church; Mrs. Graham Parish of Lake Katrine from St. John's Episcopal Church and Mrs. Fred Kukuk of Flatbush from the Flatbush Reformed Church.

An invitation was received from the Poughkeepsie Auxiliary to attend a luncheon on Monday, March 26, at 1 p. m. and to be guests at their regular monthly meeting following. Members desiring to accept the invitation were requested to notify Mrs. George DuBois before the March meeting of the Auxiliary.

Drive to Help Camp.

On Monday, February 13, the auxiliary will start a drive to sell bricks for the fireplace in the Y's Men's camp at Glenerie Lake. Every one buying bricks will have his or her name placed in a conspicuous place in the building. The bricks sell for $1 apiece. The Y's Men's Club has visualized and carried on some big projects since their existence. One of the major ones is the construction of the large lodge on the camp grounds owned by the Y. M. C. A., the deed being held by the trustees of the association. The purpose of those who were instrumental in its development is to make it a center for summer outdoor activities. Not only the Y. M. C. A. but any church, Sunday school, religious or other responsible organization may arrange to hold picnics, socials, etc., during the summer months. The lodge was substantially and carefully erected and well equipped. There is a large kitchen with a monstrous wood and coal range, a ladies' room and dormitories. An open air sleeping lodge has been erected for the boys.

One of the finest features is the handsome large fireplace which has been admired by more than a thousand visitors to the place. The sale of bricks for this fireplace, of which is hoped to sell 2,500, will greatly aid in reducing the obligations undertaken by the club.

Mrs. Van Wagenen Describes Trip.

Miss Frances Osterhoudt, chairman of the program committee, introduced Mrs. H. P. Van Wagenen, who gave a most vivid account of her trip abroad. She stated that France appealed to her particularly for its historical setting; Italy for the charmingly simple life of its people and its great art centers; Switzerland for its natural scenery; Germany with its beautiful Rhine, narrower and more winding than the Hudson river and without its palisades but picturesque with its romantically historic castles and its soft terraces filled with growing fruit; Holland appealed because it was so different from any other country, with its low flats, dotted with black and white cows, its canals and windmills; every place visited in England reminded her of some literary gem.

In France she saw the dining room in which Napoleon and Josephine sat when he told her he was about to divorce her and the house where she retired and lived the rest of her life. She saw Versailles with its beautiful groves, lakes and fountains, the magnificent royal carriages looking decidedly out of date, great fields of waving grain with no barns, but large steel store houses in the center of its farms; no farm houses, the farmers living in small houses in the villages, coming to their farms each day with their lunches. She visited the battlefields, broad expanses of green with white stone crosses all exactly alike.

Rheims Hard Hit.

She found Rheims hard hit by the war, out of 1,400 homes, 1,200 being demolished. However, there was great building activity and work of restoration. In Rheims eight wars had raged but only in the World War had their cathedral been damaged. She saw the devastation of war being repaired all over, big trenches being filled, a huge dugout, three miles long, built by the Germans, and everywhere poppies growing along the roadside as daisies grow here, making the fields a glow of red as daisies make the fields here a mass of white. She saw the field where Millet painted "The Gleaners" and the wonderful place at Fontainebleau, where over thirty kings had lived, each one building an addition until there are now 33,000 rooms. In this palace are Napoleon's clock which tells the days and months of the year, and the two most beautiful rugs in the world, which took one year to make each square yard. The very youngest carp in the lake is said to be seventy years old. She traveled by auto from Nice, France, to Geona, Italy, over an old Roman road along the Mediterranean.

One of her unusual experiences was being taken to her hotel in Venice by a gondola. She found Venice built on 117 islands, with 150 canals, crossed by 370 stone bridges. Serenaders go out in gaily decorated boats with almost an entire orchestra and play and sing under one's window, the listeners being expected to drop coins into the boats.

Railroad Police Kill Suspect

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 11 (AP).—New York Central police today shot and killed a man suspected of robbery. The shooting followed an automobile pursuit from the West Albany shops of the railroad company through the western section of the city.

The dead man has not been identified. A driver's license bearing the name of Paul Mitchell of Troy, was found in his pocket, but inquiry at the address given on the license revealed that the man was not known there.

Captain John Boyle, Lt. Robert Alger and Patrolman Henry Worden, of the railroad police, were released on their own recognizance after questioning by city police officials.

Captain Boyle said that he and the other railroad police were watching the railroad shops from which thousands of dollars worth of brass have been stolen recently. While they were there three men entered a parked automobile loaded with brass and drove away. The officers followed them in another car. The car of the suspects lost a wheel at the corner of Clinton avenue and Ontario street and the occupants ran away, while the police shot at them, killing one of the trio. The two others escaped.

Ulster County Boy Scout Rally Here

First of Its Kind Held Here in Five Years—Scouts Present From All Sections of County—Handicraft Displays—Scouts Hold Parade.

The Ulster County Boy Scout Rally at the armory today, the first held here in five years, was largely attended by the youth of the county, accompanied by capable Scoutmasters. The program was strictly adhered to this morning and after luncheon at the armory the Scouts prepared for an afternoon of competition between the various troops in athletics and along craft lines.

The rally began at 10 o'clock when E. J. Luedtke, Scoutmaster of American Legion Troop, No. 10, assembled the boys in the armory and directed them to seats on both sides of the big drill shed. At 10:45 the troops were called to order by Vice-President B. C. Van Ingen of the Ulster County Council, who acted in the capacity of chairman of the rally in the absence of Council President Fred S. Van Voorhis of Saugerties. The colors were then massed at the west end of the armory and brought to the center where they were saluted by the Scouts. The boys then pledged allegiance to the flag and recited the Scout laws.

The assemblage of bright, alert and attentive youths listened with much attention to an address of welcome by Mayor Edgar J. Dempsey and to Dr. Myron J. Michael, superintendent of schools. Both men lauded the ideals of the Scouts and urged the boys to observe every article in the Scout code which aims for high standard citizenship.

A parade was then held and the boys, who were assembled in the line of march led by Troop No. 1 of Highland drum corps, marched downtown as far as the Strand and back to the armory. The parade then broke up and the Scouts lunched at the armory. Hot cocoa and ice cream was served to the boys after luncheon.

The Scouts were attracted to a display of handicraft made by the members of the American Legion Troop, under Scoutmaster Edward J. Luedtke. The exhibit contains many articles which display the true worth of scouting. Mr. Luedtke is proud of his boys and has received many compliments for his good work among them. The troop has been assembled but a few months.

This afternoon's program started at one o'clock. It included knot tying, starting fire by friction, signalling and bugling. A parade to the uptown district was scheduled for 4 o'clock and after the march to Academy Green, the colors were to be lowered and the troops disbanded.

A Card Party.

Congregation Ahavath Israel will hold a card party Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the Hebrew school hall on Post street.

Cartridge Preservation

The minimum life of cartridges kept in a dry, cool place would be from 10 to 12 years. Sometimes they keep as long as from 30 to 40 years, depending on how the primer holds up, as the primer sometimes deteriorates.

The town clock instead of having a face has a huge bell and two bronze figures with sledge hammers which strike the hour.

Famous Bronze Horses.

Over the door of St. Mark's Cathedral are four bronze horses five feet high with quite a history, having been found in front of Nero's chariot in Rome, carried to Constantinople, remaining there 900 years, carried back to Venice for 509 years, taken to Paris by Napoleon, and after the battle of Waterloo again being carried back to Venice. At the Doges palace she saw the largest painting in the world with 600 life-sized figures. She walked over the famous "Bridge of Sighs" connecting the Doges palace with the prison and saw the prison cell in which Lord Byron voluntarily spent a night to get the proper inspiration to write his "Childe Harold".

Everyone regretted that the flight of time did not permit Mrs. Van Wagenen to give further description of her trip and a rising vote of thanks was given her for her interesting account. Refreshments were served by ladies from the Rondout Presbyterian Church. All wished the president, Mrs. Longyear, who starts Saturday for Florida, a pleasant trip and safe return.

About the Folks

Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Styles and Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Gill motored to New York city today for the week end.

Lydia Bush was removed from her home, 57 Tubby street, to the City of Kingston Hospital in the ambulance on Friday.

Carl Miller, of 674 Broadway, who was confined to his home for seven weeks by reason of illness, is able to be about again.

Miss Susie McAndrew of Grove street and Miss May Robert of Crane street have returned home from a visit in New York city, Atlantic City and other points of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Loughran S. Smith of Pine street are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a son, Robert, at the City of Kingston Hospital. Mother and child are doing finely. Mr. Smith is a clerk in the uptown post office.

THE JOINERS.

News of Interest to Members of Fraternal Societies.

All members of Charles DeWitt Council, No. 91, J. O. U. A. M., are requested to meet at the lodge rooms Sunday night at 6:45 to attend service at the Reformed Church of the Comforter. The Rev. W. F. Stowe will preach on Washington and Lincoln. Members will please wear their badges.

Members of Kingston Chapter, No. 155, O. E. S., are requested to meet in the Sunday school hall of the Elmendorf Street Presbyterian Church at 4:45 o'clock Sunday afternoon to attend the dramatic recital of the story of Queen Esther by Miss Ammerman of New York city, to be given at the vesper service at five o'clock.

CUT IN BANK INTEREST FAVORED BY MITCHELL.

Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City Bank of New York, in The American Bankers' Association Journal, discusses various factors as justifying lower interest rates on bank deposits. Among these is general decline in yield on securities in which bank funds are invested.

"Operating expenses of the banking business, in which salaries and taxes are the leading items, have not been declining and are not likely to do so," Mr. Mitchell says. "While it is unpleasant to think of disturbing relations with depositors, it is even more so to think of reducing the pay of the bank staffs, and other expenses are largely beyond control. It is evident, however, that a normal equilibrium must be maintained between income and outgo if the banking business is to be kept on a sound basis.

"Banking income is chiefly in the form of interest, and the largest item of banking outgo consists of interests on deposits. The banking business lives mainly upon the margin between interest received and interest paid, and the relation between the two is of vital importance.

Deposits as Investments.

"Bank deposits on time and at interest are to depositors virtually a class of investments of low rate, convertible into cash upon comparatively short notice, the bank assuming responsibility for their profitable employment. The banker prefers to employ these deposits at short time, but he is influenced by the rates obtainable. The banks are directly interested in security yields, first because 30 per cent of their funds is invested in securities, and, second, if security yields decline, current rates will tend to decline also.

"Current interest rates on deposits should be based on current bank earnings, not on past profits. It is not sound policy to dissipate such profits by running the bank upon a scale of expenditures which is unwarranted by returns upon present values."

Business Improvement Slow.

The Journal finds that so far this year little tangible evidence has appeared of the improvement in business that has been so confidently predicted, with the exception of the steel and motor industries.

"Conditions in the motor industry appear similar to those of steel," the magazine says, "with the entire industry rapidly increasing employment, speeding up production, launching sales campaigns and looking forward to making this a new record year in history.

"The similarity between conditions in the steel and motor industries, however, is not so complete as might appear on the surface, in that while prices are being increased in the former line, they are being reduced in the latter. With the substantial price cuts that have been announced by several leading manufacturers since January 1 and the almost continuous revision of models, it would seem that a stiff competitive year is in prospect and that perhaps profits will not be as satisfactory as volume."

Burial of Giantess

To bury a woman who died at Mequassi, South Africa, the services of 30 men were required. The coffin was 8 feet 4 inches high at the shoulder and 6 feet 3 inches in length. Twenty men had to assist in putting the corpse into the coffin, and 30 pallbearers lowered it into the grave. The deceased, who was a young woman, had been bedridden for a year. Owing to her weight a special bed had to be made on the floor.

THE FOX FAMILY

"NOW, children," said Mother Gray Fox to her little babies, "you must learn many lessons.

"For the past few weeks I have held you close to me so you could feel my comforting warm furry body, and so you need not be afraid in the great dark world.

"But now the world is no longer dark, for you have opened your eyes at last, and you see the light.

"Your daddy is proud of you, too! He stayed away while you were so very tiny.

"It is best that way. Mother Fox wants to be all, all alone with her babies when they are so very tiny.

"And all alone in her three-room ground apartment she stayed with you.

"Daddy Fox will teach you lessons, too. He will also show you how you must hunt and do the marketing. You will learn just a little at a time.

"That will be enough to do. No little fox should learn too much at a time, for we do not want you to adventure far.

"A very little hunting at a time will do.

"You must beware of Great Horned Owl. He's a wild fellow and he doesn't care in the least for a darling little baby fox.

"Perhaps I should say he cares for a little baby fox too much. Much too much.

"He doesn't really care for a baby fox or he couldn't catch the little darling and put an end to its sweet fox life.

"You must stay most of the time safely in your soft grassy bed in the Home Den.

"You must beware of the strong Weasel who loves little foxes in the same cruel way that Great Horned Owl does.

"The Weasel knows how to hunt, too. He knows how to take short cuts, and he is tireless.

"Once a darling little fox was saved from a Weasel because old Rattlesnake saw him in time. Old Rattle didn't want to protect the baby fox, oh, no, you must watch out for Old Rattle and his family.

"But Old Rattle wanted the Weasel and fight they did so that the baby fox got home to safety.

"You must be careful of men—and guns and rattlesnakes. Copperheads you must beware of and field mice you must smile at. For you are an enemy to field mice. You can catch them!

"Beware, too, of the Goshawk. He is an enemy."

"All that your mother tells you is true," said Daddy Fox. And then Daddy Fox began to give lessons in what they must beware of and what they must learn.

"In a year's time you will be old enough and wise enough to choose your own mates and start out housekeeping and homemaking for yourselves.

"Mother and Daddy Fox will not be lonely, for that is the way you should do, and Mother and Daddy Fox have each other and they love each other and are always happy with each other.

"Aren't we, Mother Gray Fox?"

Mother Gray Fox looked at Daddy Gray Fox and smiled and her eyes were tender and loving.

"I've always been thankful you were my mate, and proud that you were my mate and glad that you were my mate.

"You're the most handsome fox that ever lived!" said Daddy Fox.

And the little foxes looked at each other and grinned and said:

"We will not feel that Mother and Daddy will be lonely when we leave them, for they love each other so much, so much."

Then Daddy Fox suggested a good game, and they all had a most wonderful Fox frolic for all of them loved to play!

And Mother and Daddy Fox said that play was a most important part of life!

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

YOUR BANK

FOR the remotest origin of banking we must go back to the days of antiquity. But vast changes in its nature and scope have taken place from the day of the ancient banker who was a mere custodian of money and a buyer and seller of foreign exchange to the modern banker who is a financier and a dealer in credit.

The oldest survival of a banking transaction was unearthed recently by explorers in Assyria. This is a bill of exchange issued a thousand years before Christ. Then several hundred years before Christ we have the "Argentarii" or "dealers in money" of Greece and Rome. It was under Justinian in Rome that the banking business flourished and developed to a scope that was not reached again for centuries to come. A comparatively large use of credit was involved and a whole series of laws relating to it were created.

During the Middle ages, however, the insecurity of property reduced banking again to mere money changing until the establishment in Venice, in 1587, of the Banco di Rialto, which received deposits subject upon order, in which we have the real beginning of modern banking.

Gradually, through this and other banks, which were springing up throughout Europe, came the various features which constitute modern banking as we know it today. On July 27, 1694, came the incorporation of the Bank of England around which ever since have centered the finances of Great Britain and which furnished an example for the First Bank of the United States, which was chartered by one of the earliest acts under the federal Constitution on February 25, 1791.

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

COUNTING STARS

"THEY fought from heaven: the stars in their courses fought against Sisera." So sang Deborah and Barak, the son of Abinoam, exulting over the destruction of the Canaanite commander. The quotation is an example of the intimate relations which the ancients believed to exist between the stars and human destiny. The persistence of this idea down into our own times is evidenced by the number of "astrologers" who make a comfortable living from the credulous by their "horoscopes" and the prevalence of star-superstitions all over the world. As to astrology, it was regarded as a real science down to within comparatively recent times.

There appears to have been strictly no star-worship among the ancients. In the sun and the moon primitive man saw deities—in the stars celestial bodies more nearly related to and connected with himself. The stars peopled the heavens as man peopled the earth and between them existed a community of fate, the celestial influencing the terrestial, as was natural. Therefore, we see in current star-superstitions not the invocation of a god but an attempt to find out how the celestial bodies with which we are in affinity are influencing our destiny. A common superstition of the "project" class in this country and Canada is that if you count nine stars for nine successive nights (if a cloudy or rainy night intervene the charm will be broken and the project must be begun again) the person you dream of that night will be your future husband (or wife). In one section only three stars are counted. This superstition is based upon the ideas stated above with regard to the connection between the stars and their human kindred, the counting of the stars being merely an attempt to get en rapport, as it were, with the celestial ruler of your destiny.

Plenty Left

Despite the fact that in Great Britain the gannets or solan geese eat immense amounts of herring, there seems to be plenty of fish left for the human fishermen. The gannets occupy every available ledge on the giant cliffs. Although they eat 60,000,000 herrings annually the good fishing does not seem to diminish. Herons are on the bounty list, however, because of their activity in fishing streams of inland waters.

Use FREEMAN advertising regularly and conservatively and results will surely follow.

Wren Farmer's Friend

For its size, the house wren is one of the most effective bird enemies of the insects. Wrens usually rear two broods of young each year, and the parents keep busy from morning to night bringing food for the hungry young. The wren's diet is almost exclusively animal, and a pair of wrens will account for an enormous number of insects in a season.

NOTICE TO DOG OWNERS.

Inasmuch as the State Commissioner of Health has certified to the Local Health Officer of Kingston, that the disease known as the Rabies exists in the city of Kingston among the Dogs the following is published:

Section 25a. PREVENTION OF THE SPREAD OF RABIES.

Whenever the disease known as rabies shall exist among dogs in any general health district, consolidated health district, city, village or town, or in the vicinity thereof, and the state commissioner of health shall so certify to the health officer of such district or municipality, it shall be the duty of such health officer immediately to publish a notice of the existence of such disease, together with a copy of this section, by publication in a newspaper generally circulated within such general health district, consolidated health district, city, village or town or by posting in several conspicuous places, or by both such publication and posting. Thereafter, until the state commissioner of health shall have certified that rabies no longer exists in such general health district, consolidated health district, city, village or town and due notice shall have been given, it shall be unlawful for any person owning, boarding or otherwise keeping or having in his custody a dog to permit such dog to be at large within such general health district, consolidated health district, city, village or town unless muzzled with a properly fitted muzzle of a type which will not permit such dog to bite any person or other animal. It shall be the duty of all officers empowered by law to enforce the laws of the state or local ordinances to cause any dog found at large in such general health district, consolidated health district, city, village or town and not so muzzled to be confined or, if it is impracticable to secure and confine such dog, to be immediately killed. During such period any person may kill or cause to be killed any dog not so muzzled which is known to have attacked any person or domestic animal and such person shall not be held liable for damages for such killing. The person killing or causing such dog to be killed shall immediately report the facts to the local health officer.

DANIEL CONNELLY,
Health Officer.

Dated, February 10, 1928.

News From the World on Wheels

Greater public interest in Chrysler cars than ever before at this season of any year has followed the lowering of prices, effective January 10, for its New "52" and Great New "62". The savings to the public range from $50 to $100 on various body styles.

Actual retail deliveries of Studebaker and Erskine cars during January were the largest in Studebaker history, and 58 per cent greater than for January, 1927. The figures are based on retail deliveries to customers as reported by Studebaker dealers throughout the country every ten days. Deliveries for the first two 10-day periods of the month showed an increase of 51 per cent over the same period last year. The last 10-day period registered an increase of 70 per cent over the corresponding period of 1927.

Broadening the field for Knight-engined cars by the introduction of an entirely new, popular priced Willys-Knight car, was announced here today. The newcomer to the sleeve-valve engined field, which is known as the Willys-Knight Standard Six, will be a companion car in the $1,100 price field to the current Willys-Knight Great Six and the Willys-Knight Special Six in the higher priced brackets. In virtually every respect the new Willys-Knight Standard Six retains the same characteristics of design, performance, and appearance as featured by the Special Six and the Great Six. A range of colorful body models comprising a Coach, 4-door Sedan, Coupe and the Touring will form the Standard Six body line. An exceptionally complete line of equipment, numerous innovations in interior appointments, together with striking new lines in body design are presented.

Roman God Gave Name

Ancient Rome, from which we obtained the names of our months—as we got the names of our days from our Saxon forefathers—first thought of calling our first month January, we are told in 672 B. C. It marked a turn of the year, when the winter solstice ended, the earth turned from its short day period toward the longer days just about to begin. Janus, an old Roman god, was the god of beginnings. Because war was man's chief business then, he especially represented the beginning of war. His temple in Rome was always open, while the country was at war, and closed when it was at peace, which last was not very often, though it did happen in the reign of Augustus Cæsar at the time when our Savior was born. —Montreal Family Herald.

French Fliers In New York

Five Hundred People Gather at Mitchel Field to Greet French Good Will Fliers—Noted Aviators Among the Gathering.

Mitchel Field, N. Y., Feb. 11 (AP).—Dieudonne Costes and Joseph Le Brix, French good will fliers whose course has led them over four continents during the past four months, landed here at 10:32 o'clock today from Washington.

A group of army pursuit planes escorted the Frenchmen to the field and circled above as the biplane, Nungesser-Coli, which has a service record of 67,000 miles, landed.

Costes and Lebrix have flown more than 22,000 miles on their present trip, which has taken them from France to Africa, across the Atlantic to South America and northward to the United States.

The fliers were greeted when they landed by Edward L. Stanton for Mayor Walker and Maxime Mongendre, French consul general. As the consul general appeared at the field he was accorded an 11 gun salute.

About 500 people were waiting to greet the fliers and were held in check by soldiers and state police. The Nungesser-Coli was wheeled into a hangar and Costes and Lebrix prepared to leave for New York by car.

Among aviators gathered to greet the Frenchmen were Clarence D. Chamberlin, New York to Germany flier; George Noville, who flew to France with Commander Richard Byrd, and Charles A. Levine, Chamberlin's transatlantic passenger.

Levine had expected to be in the air on an attempt to break the flight endurance record when the Frenchmen arrived but an accident to his plane has caused postponement.

Auto Goes Over Bank, Two Killed

Albany, N. Y. Feb. 11 (AP)—George A. MacFarland of Glen Falls and his fiancee, Miss Hazel Stokes, of New York were killed today in an automobile accident on the New York Post road, ten miles south of here. Their car skidded on the icy road and plunged over a bank into a creek.

The accident happened before daybreak but it was not revealed until several hours later, when the proprietor of a filling station discovered the wrecked car and the bodies of the victims.

MacFarland, a son of former Assemblyman Stewart MacFarland, of Warren county, was a special agent in this city for the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland. He left Albany with the intention of driving Miss Stokes to New York.

A Red Seal Home Means Comfort and Convenience

Joe Len, contractor, knows that Red Seal homes are popular in the market because of the comfort and convenience they assure the buyer. This seven room house, with bath, shower and garage, is located in an exclusive residential section at 190 Washington avenue near Pearl street. Wired according to Red Seal standards it is equipped with convenience outlets to meet present and future needs in utilizing the electric lamps and appliances of the modern home. In such a house electricity can give the best service in the most efficient and convenient way.

The Red Seal wiring in this house was made possible through the cooperation of the Electric Service League of Kingston. The league will be glad to help you also in securing a Red Seal installation for the home you are planning to build or buy.

RICH OSAGES KEEP OLD FUNERAL RITES

Traditional Customs Have Been Little Changed.

Pawhuska, Okla.—While riches from oil have caused the Osage Indians to adopt many of the ways of white men, wealth has had little effect on the tribe's strange burial ceremony.

Except for the use of an expensive coffin, the funeral of an Osage is the same as that of his ancestors many generations ago. Feasting as well as mourning is a part of the rite. After a tribesman's death, relatives and friends remain for several days with the body in the Indian lodge. They have no chairs or beds, but sit or sleep on the wooden floor. The custom permits them to leave quietly and to stay away an hour or two. The coffin is in the center of the room, and paid mourners chant weird tunes in a corner.

When the burial day arrives, the body is placed in a sitting posture and a painter draws lines on the face, each line representing an outstanding benevolent deed. The Indians file by the corpse, and whisper in the dead man's ear the communications they want delivered to relatives who preceded him to the happy hunting ground.

The body is taken to the grave, and after the burial the funeral party returns to the home of the deceased for a feast. Often several beeves are slaughtered for this feast, and many of the white man's best foods also are served. All the guests are expected to eat heartily. The entire tribe and its white friends are invited. The estate of the deceased pays for the feast.

Boat Tied to Wharf for 3,000 Years Discovered

Berlin.—A boat, tied to its landing wharf for 3,000 years, has been found buried under six feet of peat in an ancient bog in upper Sunbia, according to Dr. Oscar Paret, a Stuttgart archeologist. It is a dugout canoe about fifteen feet long, hollowed out of the trunk of a giant oak. The sides, Doctor Paret says, were shaved down to a surprising thinness. Several paddles were found in it. A number of earthen vessels and bronze objects found in the turf around it date the boat as of the Bronze age, about 1000 B. C., contemporary with the siege of Troy and the reign of Solomon in Jerusalem.

The boat was found at the end of one of three long wharves, which ran back to the vicinity of the remains of a number of houses. Apparently there was once a village on the edge of the bog, on a solid ground, separated from the open water of the lake by a wide, marshy margin, which could be crossed only by these causeways. When the village site was abandoned, the vegetation in the bog and the lake continued to grow until the lake disappeared and the piling up of the dead leaves and stems buried all the works of the ancient men who lived there and used to go fishing in their dugout canoes.

Ohio Governor's Wife Is Real "Homebody"

Columbus, Ohio.—If there is anything to be done around the Vic Donahey home to make it a little more "homey" Mrs. A. V. Donahey does it herself. She is essentially a home builder.

The Donaheys have ten children, and when they moved into the Ohio executive mansion some five years ago there were several children yet under the parental rooftree, requiring the painstaking care that all growing children do.

The governor's lady raked grass, cut weeds and sowed seed while the sun beat down hotly on their vacation site last summer, and she reveled in it. Then she and the governor decided to build a new cottage on an adjoining lot. So they helped erect a little stucco home with an old-fashioned fireplace in the center of its generous living room.

But when Mrs. Donahey returned to Columbus she adapted herself readily to the mansion's background, receiving in the approved manner at musicales and the like.

A Perfect Man

New York.—The army recruiting bureau has a perfect man—Sergt. Herbert E. Smith, aged twenty-seven, weight 138, height 5 feet 6 inches. He passed an examination covering moral, mental and physical attainments with a mark of 100 per cent. He does not drink. He smokes a pipe.

130,000 Match Boxes in Bohemian Gate

Neudek, Bohemia.—A gate of 130,000 match boxes is a current attraction here.

The Association of Germans in Bohemia, the largest "verein" of its kind in Czechoslovakia, planned a get-together of all its members. As a special attraction the administrative committee hit upon the idea of constructing a gate of honor entirely of match boxes. Every member of the association was requested to contribute empty match boxes.

It was not long before 130,000 boxes had reached Neudek. Adolf Delmer, a Neudek artist, then constructed the match-box gate, believed to have had no counterpart.

Joke That Became Serious

By DUFORD JENNE

(Copyright.)

WILBUR took his mail from the country postmaster and said, "Mr. Stacey, know of any place 'round here where I could work for my board this winter?"

"So you want to farm it, eh?" Mr. Stacey said with his usual twinkling smile.

"Why not? I don't want to go back to the city; and I know that Rhode Island Reds are not apples but hens, and that the young son of a bull is not a heifer."

"Wal, you ought to do a pile of farmin' on that knowledge, my boy, but, howsomever, I'm not the man to stan' in the way of a young man goin' back to the soil. Hum—let's see." His eyes twinkled. "You go up to Laurel Hollow—up to the Hillview farm. They need a man there and need him bad."

"I'm the one they are looking for," Wilbur said as he started off.

"Laurel Hollow," Wilbur mused to himself. "Ought to be about right for a busted-down poet."

He began immediately to walk to Laurel Hollow. He had good reasons why he wanted the job, and right off. The summer in the hills had won him back to fair health after the long grind of his work in the city, but he hated to go back, until he was stronger, to the same routine—and he almost wished he never had to return. Then he was short of funds.

A half hour later he faced the farmhouse on the Laurel Hollow road.

"A wonderful view to feed my soul—and good, old-fashioned food to feed my tummy. Yes, I think they need me badly," he concluded.

The door was opened at his knock, and he was looking into brown, pretty eyes, and a girlish face that was as pretty as the eyes.

"Yes, this is Hillview. Please come in," her clear voice said cheerfully.

He stepped into a room as cheerful as the voice, and he explained his errand.

Her eyes widened, and a little smile crept into the brown depths. "Yes, we—we do need a man to help—us—"

She paused and looked at him, an odd look in her eyes, a look that gave him a queer thrill—the first glance of those who in some mysterious way accept the promise of comradeship.

He agreed to her terms readily, and it was settled without much trouble. He was to come the next day.

His weary feet were light on the way back, and his voice was happier as he stopped in the cross-roads store and post office to tell Stacey of his good fortune.

"Got my job, Stacey!" he announced.

The old man blinked over his glasses. "What's that?"

"I say I'm hired—for the winter, and I hope forever; and I'll show you I haven't forgotten what my old man pounded into me on the old home farm."

Stacey gasped. "Why, gosh-a-mighty, men, you can't live up there?"

"Well, why not?"

"Why, I sent ye up thar jest for a joke. That farm was left to the girl, Janice Ransom. She came and opened it up this summer, an' she's tryin' to run it—guess she jest come from some school whar she was studying, only her money gave out, and the old place was left to her by her grandad jest in time to help her out. She's livin' there alone—you can't go up thar with her alone. She agree?"

"Sure. So you did it as a joke?" Wilbur answered, a bit stunned.

"Yep, had no idea she'd take you. Didn't she say nuthin'?"

"She hired me."

"Wal, 'twon't do here. If you's married, be all right."

"We're going to be."

Stacey gasped again. "What's that?" Wilbur told him.

The old man's strangled exclamation followed him down the steps, but outside Wilbur paused. She surely had hired him—that much was certain, and he would go on that basis.

The next day, with some doubt in his mind, he hired a team to take him and his luggage to the hill farm. It looked as cozy and as welcome as on his previous trip.

As he stepped into the house, he noted two things: the girl's quick friendly welcome, and an old silver-haired lady who was busy in the kitchen. A load went from his mind—with the old lady on hand, there was no chance of scandal.

His sense of inner happiness deepened as the hours of the afternoon went by. It was a pleasant place; he was competent, although his banter with Stacey indicated otherwise; and the girl—somehow he knew that she was glad to have him there.

He drove down that evening to the store for supplies for the house, a memory of her brown head bent over the slip she made out for him following him the whole way.

Stacey greeted him with a serious face. "She fixed it. I've found out. The minute after you left, she hired old Mrs. Clem to come up. She's a clever one, and I guess she liked your looks."

"You're right. And don't forget, deacon, that I liked hers. And besides, we'll be married one of these days."

Stacey blinked. "This is gittin' to be too fast a world for me. By gad, young man, I believe you!"
